BASEBALL MEN HARD AT WORK

Initial Workout Held Monday On Cary Field, With Eighty Candidates

Nine Letter Men Among Candidates

Biggest Contests Center Around
Midway Station, Pitching
Staff And Outfield
Berths

The long and eagerly awaited call for baseball candidates was issued by Coach Driver Monday afternoon, and over eighty men responded, including a number of highly reputed ball-tossers, as well as nine letter men, and several of last year's scrubs.

Bad weather prevented Tuesday's workout on Cary Field, but the battery candidates were given a practice in Jefferson gymnasium.

Various limbering up processes, light batting practice, and exercises for conditioning work, were continued throughout the week. Next week the practice will be more intensive, and the following week it is probable that the squad will be cut to about thirty men.

The letter men who have returned are White, Harwood, Joe Chandler, and Clarke, outfielders; Cooke, first base; Hicks, shortstop; Lowe, third base, Stephens, pitcher, and F. F. Chandler, catcher. "Curt" Thompson, a left hander from Richmond University, is also out for the nine, as is "Fobbie" Cobb, outfielder for two years at Washington and Lee.

CONTEST ANNOUNCED

The Flat Hat announces, pursuant to the action of the student body, that competition for places on the staff will take place next week. A meeting of all men interested will be held in chapel Monday night at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of outlining the contest. Following this meeting, the aspirants for the positions on the staff will be given six days to prepare their articles. The successful candidates will be announced Monday two weeks, and will immediately be given places on the staff.

It is probable that a vacancy on the staff, as well as the reporters' positions, will be filled from the successful candidates.

If you're possessed of a desire to write, and besides that, to help the college, then come out to chapel Monday night, and get your instructions.

The Flat Hat needs you, and you need the experience.

WILLIAM AND MARY IS LAUDED BY SPEAKER AT HAMILTON CLUB MEETING

Personal Friend of Abraham Lincoln Says Universities of America
Should Take Record of Famous Institution at Williamsburg as an Example

(The Times-Herald)

Chicago, March 6.—The great universities of the country should form a loyal fraternity pledging themselves to maintain and defend Republican institutions and co-operate in warding off any impending danger which may threaten them now or hereafter, Barlow A. Ulrich, an old friend of Abraham Lincoln, told the alumni of Michigan University at the Hamilton Club here today.

He pointed out that William and Mary University, founded in 1693, had educated four signers of the Constitution, three Presidents, twenty-seven members of Congress, fifteen United States senators, seventeen judges, one lieutenant general, one commodore, twelve professors and four signers of the Declaration of Independence. George Washington also gained his knowledge of surveying at this university, he said.

"This is what the oldest university of the United States accomplished towards preparation of its alumni for the great achievement of laying the foundation of our great republic," he said.

"We, of the alumni of Michigan University, have a duty to perform of vital importance. Other universities, Harvard, Yale, California, Wisconsin, Illinois, as well as William and Mary and other great institutions of learning, should also take part in the movement I am suggesting. All these universities should form a kind of Masonic order or loyal fraternity, pledging themselves to maintain and defend our republican institutions and co-operate in warding off any impending danger which may threaten them now or hereafter."

College May Get A New Dormitory

$350,000.00 Appropriation For Maintenance, And Between
$80,000.00 And $100,000.00
For Building

William and Mary's appropriation from the State for the coming two years will in all probability be between $430,000 and $450,000 dollars, of which $350,000 approximately will be for maintenance for the biennium, the remainder, between $80,000 and $100,000, for a new men's dormitory. The college will add an equal amount to the fund appropriated by the State for the dormitory, bringing the total approximate cost of the building to about $200,000.

The original sum appropriated for William and Mary was only the amount allowed in the Governor's

GAME SATURDAY

William and Mary's women's basketball team will play the Social Service School of Richmond sextet here tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in Jefferson gymnasium. It will be the second intercollegiate contest for the locals this year. The visiting aggregation is reported to be a fast one, and the contest should be unusually close. The Social Service School is affiliated with the college, being one of the extension schools.

The probable line-up for tomorrow for the local sextet will be as follows: Zehmer and Chase, forwards; Whitaker and Rew, centers; and Sterling and Kite, guards.

Sweet Briar Proves No Match For Locals

William and Mary Women Win in Fast Game by Score of 29-25

The William and Mary women's basketball team proved too fast for Sweet Briar college last Saturday at the latter institution, when the local sextet romped away with their only intercollegiate contest of the season on foreign soil, by the count of 29-25.

The winning of the game was the cause of universal rejoicing here at the college. Little was shown of the calibre of the local team, as it had met no contestants this year. The Sweet Briar team had defeated Westhampton the week before by the score of 25-24. A great ovation was given the victors when they returned from Sweet Briar Sunday afternoon.

The Sweet Briar sextet had the advantage in size and of playing before a home crowd, but that advantage

LECTURE TOMORROW

The sixth of the Marshall-Wythe Lectures, which was to have been delivered by Prof. Oscar L. Shewmake February 28, and was postponed due to his sickness, will be delivered by him in the college chapel tomorrow at 12 o'clock noon. The subject of Prof. Shewmake's lecture will be "Evolution and Growth of Parliament: The English Constitution at the Time of the Stuarts."

A number of students and townspeople are expected to be on hand to hear Mr. Shewmake.

Organization Evolves Good Plan to Aid Girls in All Kinds of Affairs

Plans Completed;
To Commence Soon

Will Help Women Students by Aiding Them to Make Money
And Many Other Ways

At the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Mabel Stratton discussed a new plan of the Association which is to work this spring in the form of a Vocational Bureau. The motto of the Y. W. is "service"; and this Bureau is to further that end by serving the students, helping them to make money; and by serving those who are to employ the students. The work is to be handled by the Undergraduate Representative, Mabel Stratton. In most cases, the duty of the U. R. is cooperation with the industrial girls in the community. Since no such opportunities arise in Williamsburg, the cabinet, meeting with the advisory board, have evolved this plan.

There are to be, at first, seven departments of the Bureau, each to be handled by a competent chairman and committee. To these committees are responsible all parties in the transactions, the committees themselves under the direct supervision of the U. R. These departments include various kinds of labor for which there is much demand.

First, there is coaching. It is going on all the time, in one way or

Students Ratify Flat Hat's Plan

The students of William and Mary—the upper classes voting Tuesday, and the freshman Thursday—ratified the proposal of the Flat Hat that election of members of the staff of the weekly and appointment of reporters for the papers be vested in the hands of the Flat Hat Board. The vote was practically unanimous. At the same time it was decided that any board, collectively or individually, could be recalled by a majority vote of the student body.

The proposal to create a Board of Publication was postponed till a later date. Elsewhere in this number the Flat Hat has issued a call for reporters for the remainder of this year, all of whom will be embryonic candidates for next year's staff. The plan as ratified by the student body will be put in effect immediately. By it the staff hopes to improve greatly on the value and make-up of the paper, so that it will prove a more effective and enjoyable means of expressing student opinion and carrying college news.

Editorial Contest In Southern Colleges

Staged Under Auspices of Southern Intercollegiate Newspaper Conference

S. I. N. A. Headquarters—The Southern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association, which came into being at the University of Richmond last spring, has announced a South-wide Editorial Contest, which is open to all bona fide students of every white college and university from the Mason and Dixon Line to the Gulf, and from the Mississippi to the coast. For this, the first contest, a writable subject has been selected which is as follows: "Contributions of The College Newspaper to College Life."

The contest opens immediately and will close April 10, 1922, at which time editorials must be in the hands of Hon. N. B. Forrest, Commander-in-Chief, General Headquarters Sons Confederate Veterans, Atlanta, Ga., who is chairman of the committee of judges.

Prizes Offered

Appropriately designed Gold, Silver, and Bronze Medals will be awarded for first, second and third places in the contest, while every writer getting his editorial sent to the judges will receive a Certificate of Honorable Mention.

The editorials must not exceed 500 words and are to be typewritten on one side of regular plain letter size sheets.

Each college or university will be permitted to send one editorial to the committee, a local contest closing April 2 with Prof. Oscar L. Shewmake and Dr. W. A. Montgomery acting as judges, picking the winner whose editorial will then be entered in the South-wide contest at the prescribed time.

Scheme of Identity

In order to save embarrassment on the part of the local and Southern committees, assumed names are required on the upper right hand corner of the editorials and that same assumed name is required on plain sealed envelope, in which the proper name, address, school and home of the writer will be contained. The editorial, with this envelope attached, will first be given to the local committee, and still sealed, sent to general committee chairman.

Awards at this contest will be made at the annual convention of the association, to be held the latter part of April at a place yet to be selected. Officers of the association are: President, Chas. F. Leck, University of Richmond, Va.; Vice-President, M. L. Deitch, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn. for Tenn., Ky., Miss., Ala. and La.; Bonie Millican Emory University, Ga., for N. C., S. C., Fla., and Ga.; Miss Burkella Wells, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., for Md., Del., D. C., W. Va., and Va.; and Secretary-Treasurer, R. E. Garst, University of Richmond, Va.

Valuable Gifts Given to Library

The library of the college has received some very valuable gifts from friends in different parts of the country. Among donors are the following:

Carnegie Institution, of Washington, a large collection of books on natural science.

Robert M. Hughes, of Norfolk, several rare books formerly in the libraries of prominent Virginians, among these one volume belonging to Sir John Randolph, and another belonging to Edmund Randolph.

Miss Bessie P. Taylor, a collection of miscellaneous books.

Hon. Hampton L. Carson, of Philadelphia, a handsome set in 34 volumes of the State Trials of England.

P. H. Baskerville, of Richmond;

Mrs. Charles M. Ferrell;

Mr. Benj. Woolsey, who has presented a complete set of the Oxford Dictionary of the English Language, edited by Dr. Murray. Mr. Woolsey presented this in memory of his father and mother, and as a token of regard for the devotion of one of the professors of English in William and Mary College, Dr. J. L. Hall.

G. Harvey Clarke, of Richmond, a valuable collection of miscellaneous books.

Washington Academy of Science, a complete set of its proceedings.

Morgan P. Robinson, State Archivist, a collection of rare pamphlets.

W. E. Pulsifer, of New York;

Miss Beverly Ruffin, a complete set of the Farmer's Register, in ten volumes, edited by Edmund Ruffin.

Prof. O. L. Shewmake, some books on early Virginia.

James Branch Cabell, autographed copies of his books.

Societa Dantesta Italiana, a handsome edition of works of Dante.

Granville Valentine, of Richmond.

Dr. George A. Hankins, of Williamsburg, some interesting mementoes of early Virginia.

Prof. J. Garland Pollard, early newspapers.

Griffin C. Callahan, of Philadelphia, some very valuable book plates.

Mrs. Martha Bowden Gustin, of Denver, some early documents relating to the college.

Benjamin Gilliam, an early Virginia almanac.

Miss Ruth Early, of Lynchburg, a handsome engraving of her father, Capt. Samuel Early, an alumnus of William and Mary.

Rev. Lewis T. Williams, of Pocomoke City, Md., an interesting Confederate collection.

Rev. W. H. T. Squires, of Norfolk, large engraved portraits of Tyler, Monroe, and Jefferson.

Taylor Reed, of Reedsville, Pa., a handsome edition of Moore's International law, in 8 volumes.

SPRING

There's a sparkle in the air of Spring, an all prevailing something, that cannot be captured, but its magic effort is tonic. The store feels it in every section. It expresses its appreciation of the individual's feeling by having vast assortments of Spring merchandise on hand in readiness for the first demand. This year that Spring joy is heightened and intensified by low prices. Inspection discloses this store's unerring instinct for selecting merchandise that expresses Spring.

More Games Have Been Scheduled

Athletic Director Driver has announced the completion of negotiations for a game here April 5, with Roanoke college. In addition it is thought that one of the Virginia League Clubs, either Richmond or Norfolk, will be brought here the middle of April for a two game series. The schedule, of approximately 25 games, will be announced in next week's Flat Hat.

Practically all the equipment for the year, with the exception of the new uniforms, has been received. The new outfits are expected in the next few days. When they arrive the Indians' varsity will present a high class appearance.

faded away when the first half ended with the local team leading by a 20-9 score. Sweet Briar guarded closer in the second half and managed to run up a closer score than was looked for at the end of the initial period.

The entire William and Mary team played a winning game. Sterling, at guard, and William and Mary's two forwards, Chase and Zehmer, scintillated probably a bit brighter than the others. Sterling held her opposing forward to three field goals. Chase and Zehmer ran rings around Sweet Briar's guards, scoring 7 and 8 field goals respectively.

The Sweet Briar court was much smaller than the local floor, and this was the cause of much fouling on the part of the local players. Fourteen fouls were called on William and Mary, and one on Sweet Briar. Sweet Briar's forwards scored 10 out of 13 foul shots.

The local sextet reached Sweet Briar Friday night. Following the game Saturday afternoon, they were entertained at a Senior Dinner, and play, "The Master Mind," by Ibsen. The William and Mary women have highly praised the Sweet Briar students and authorities for the splendid treatment accorded them there.

Next year it is hoped that a contest with Sweet Briar can be arranged to be played here.

The story of the game is a short one. The local sextet, by superior passing and excellent shooting, coupled with close guarding, proved superior to Sweet Briar.

The line-up and summary follows:

| W. & M. | Pos. | S. B. |
|----------|------|----------|
| Zehmer | F | Klumph |
| Chase | F | Carper |
| Whitaker | C | Mowry |
| Rew | C | Bernhard |
| Sterling | G | Purcell |
| Kite | G | Chantler |

Summary: Substitutions: W. & M.: Saunders for Kite. Sweet Briar:

MISSED THIS YEAR

Haley Settle, captain, and "Rube" Marshall, premier boxman for the Indians, who did not return to college last fall. Settle starred on the mound for William and Mary for four years. Marshall was one of the sensations of college baseball last year. He is now in training with the Atlanta Southern Association Club, with whom he made a great record last summer. Both of these men will be severely missed this year.

Whitlock for Klumph, Hager for Mowry, Dixon for Purcell. Field goals: Zehmer, 8; Chase, 7; Carper, 5; Whitlock, Hager, Purcell. Foul goals: Zehmer, 0 in 1; Klumph, 3 in 5; Whitlock, 3 in 4; Carper, 4 in 4. Referee: Brown, first half; Carrington, second half. Umpire: Carrington, first half; Brown, second half.

The places most hotly contested for will probably be second base, the outfield berths, and the pitching staff. Harwood, right fielder last year, will probably be given a chance in the box this year. He pitched winning ball at A. M. A., but an injury to his wrist prevented him pitching any here. His injured member is reported to be in condition now.

A number of candidates have played ball during the summer months, and are reported to be very good. Several come from various prep and high schools with reputations as high class tossers. In addition to these there are several members of last year's scrubs who looked good the past week.

SPEAKS IN HAMPTON

Dr. D. G. Blocker, of the chair of philosophy and sociology of William and Mary College, delivered a most intensely interesting address before the Elizabeth City County School Teachers' Association at the Hampton High School. Dr. Blocker spoke on "The Way in Which the Teacher May Raise the Standard of Their Profession." Dr. Blocker is one of the best speakers heard here in sometime and the local teachers were deeply interested in his admirable advice and talk.

In the course of his address Dr. Blocker laid stress on the three main points, which he said teachers should follow in order to raise the standard of the teachers' profession, namely, "that the child should be developed from the three standpoints: physical, mental, and moral." That they should take pride in their profession and look at it from an exalted standpoint and endeavor to make other people see it in that light. That they should study the child from all angles and make the child their pedagogical bible.

BIOGRAPHY OF INTEREST IN HISTORY MAGAZINE

Much attention has been attracted to a recent biography of Moncure Robinson, the famous civil engineer who began his career in Virginia as early as 1818. This biography was printed in the October, 1921, number of the William and Mary College Historical Magazine. It gives the facts of the life of a very remarkable man, who graduated from William and Mary College in 1817, at the age of 16. His father wished him to study law, but he seems to have determined at that early age to enter the calling of civil engineering, which at that time hardly ranked as a profession in the United States.

His career in the building of the R. F. & P. Railroad, and the Philadelphia and Reading road, besides many other works of importance, is well known. The editors of the quarterly have been highly complimented upon their purposes of printing biographical sketches of men who have been prominent in Virginia and the nation, and have not attained success through politics.

In the January number 1922, appeared a biography of John Binns, of Loudoun County, the first to introduce the use of gypsum in agriculture in Virginia. Binns used gypsum so successfully that his fame spread throughout Virginia and Maryland. He wrote a book, giving the details of his system of farming, which had considerable circulation in its day. Jefferson thought to highly of it that he sent a copy to Sir John Sinclair, and another to William Strickland, the greatest English agriculturist of that time.

In the April number will be published on account of William Tatham, the great English and Virginia engineer, whose tragic death in 1820 is so well known, and whose visions of industrial development of Virginia, advanced 120 years ago, are today partially realized.

Another engineer of the early period was Hugh Paul Taylor; the editors of the quarterly are desirous of obtaining more information about him.

Want An Instructor Of Public Speaking

The O. D. K. Society has enlisted the support of the men's literary societies and the women's literary societies in attempting to secure an instructor in Public Speaking for next year. Since the college has opened the Marshall-Wythe School of Government, we are in great need of a coach in public speaking and parliamentary procedure, it is said. No greater asset to the literary societies could be had than to have instruction in such phases of literary activity. The literary societies and the O. D. K. Society will pledge financial support to the college administration for obtaining such instruction, it has been announced.

OFFERS LARGE PENNANT FOR BEST YELL OR SONG

The O. D. K. Society feeling the lack of good, peppy, spirited athletic yells will offer a large W. & M. Pennant for the best yell or college song proposed this week. The prize will be awarded Friday, March 17th. The contest will open Saturday, March 11th. Leave a copy of the yells in the Flat Hat box. The pennant is not so valuable but the cause for which you are working is invaluable. Try your luck.

ENTERTAINED AT TEA

The members of the Kappa Zeta sorority were delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon at a tea given by two of their patronesses, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Morton, at the home of the former.

Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. Morton, Misses Kate Stone, Edna Morton, Mary Finegan, Mavis Magee, Phyllis Parker, Grace Swift, Miriam Winder, Margaret Barnard, Gladys Davis, Mary Lohman, Isca Powers, and Prof. and Mrs. Williams.

MARCH 10, 1922

Member of Southern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

FOR THE COLLEGE AND THE FLAT HAT

The Flat Hat needs men to aid in the task of getting and preparing the news of the campus for publication. Competition for these places commenced Monday, when aspirants for the places will be asked to hand in between that date and Saturday week their articles submitted as samples of the work they are capable of doing in the newspaper field. In addition there are vacancies on the staff that may be filled from among the successful candidates.

Two kinds of men are wanted for this work. The Flat Hat needs first men who have had previous newspaper experience, whether this experience is collegiate or not. Secondly, the Flat Hat needs men who will be interested in the work, who can cover assignments, and better, who can dig up happenings of interest. Both classes should be impelled to do the work by a wish to serve the student body, and to improve the material and appearance of the Flat Hat.

Six reporters will be chosen from the field. It is urged that sophomores and freshmen especially compete for the places. In this way the training will be constructive.

Candidates must be in chapel Monday night at 7 o'clock, when full instructions for the contest will be given, and assignments made. The material, handed in Saturday week, will be adjudged, and the successful candidates announced, by Monday, in order that the reporters may embark upon their work immediately.

Every man will be given ample opportunity to prove his ability.

Any students having a latent desire, or ordinary ability, in journalistic work, are hereby invited to be in chapel Monday night, hear instructions, and then enter the contest, for the betterment of William and Mary, and the improvement of the service to Alma Mater by the Flat Hat.

READ AND UNDERSTAND

The following editorial, picked up bodily from College Topics, news publication of the University of Virginia, is considered especially timely at this time, when the Flat Hat is issuing a call for men from the student body to help prepare the paper:

THE FOURTH ESTATE

"This editorial is addressed primarily to the publication workers—the 'press gang.' Others are welcome to read it, of course. It is intended as a word of encouragement to those who labor to produce the various student publications.

Why Indeed?

"Why do men work on the Reel or the Magazine, College Topics or Corks and Curly?

"For there is next to nothing, materially speaking, in it. It is not a high college honor to edit any one of the publications, much less so to be simply on the staff of one. In fact, it has been long recognized that when a student joins one of these aggregations he usually cuts off any chance he may have had for a bid to one or more of the honorary societies. (Sigma Delta Chi and Sigma Upsilon, the honorary journalistic and literary fraternities, are of course excepted from this great governing principle).

The Reason

"Such a state of affairs is to be neither deplored nor condemned. It is only natural. People cannot but suspect a journalist of trying to trick them whenever he gets a fair chance. From the nature of the game this must always be so.

"The Fourth Estate sits in at the councils of the mighty, in the school as in the world, silent, observant, almost unnoticed—until the mornings editions are on the streets the next day. Then, if there are as many as two or three who are not enraged by what has been printed, the journalist can thank whatever gods he swears by.

"As a matter of fact, newspapermen are neither more nor less honest than other people. They are human, nothing else—regardless of Mr. Upton Sinclair's assertions to the contrary in his attack on the press entitled 'The Brass Check.'

Why Keep It Up?

"Why, then, should one spend long hours and much grey matter on the publications? Here we come to the meat of the matter.

"There are good and sufficient reasons. For one thing, there is a comradeship about it; the joy of working with other men on a job that is worthy. You have to have been through the mill to realize the finess of this alone.

"There is the pleasure that comes from learning the latest news in advance of almost everybody else. News is nothing but gossip—and most of us are gossips at heart.

"And lastly: after a man has spent sometime on a newspaper—even a college newspaper—he comes to know that all life is vapor, and all flesh is grass. He can see through a sham which dazzles the multitude; he can form an accurate estimate of the real worth or emptiness of 'big men around college,' or of big men about town.

"We might name other things which enrich a man's life if he works on the publications. But space is limited, and we must get the news to our readers!"

PLAY THEM HERE

It is hoped that next year the Sweet Briar college basketball team will play here at William and Mary. According to the local team, the authorities and students at Sweet Briar made every minute of their stay at that institution a pleasant one. We know that if they play here next year they will be repaid in kind.

Intercollegiate contests with the other women's and coeducational colleges of the State is the most feasible way to establish strong and useful relations between the institutions of the State engaged in the higher education for women.

RESPECTING THE LAW

Recently one of the dealers in intoxicants who carries on his business with some of the best people in the city dropped in upon one of his customers and began to display his wares.

"I have some very fine Scotch, some vermouth, rye, bourbon, creme de menthe, gin and a few quarts of champagne today," announced the bootlegger. "What can I sell you?"

"Have you any absinthe?" one of his prospective purchasers inquired.

"No, indeed," responded the bootlegger. "It's against the law to sell absinthe."

SHIPS THAT PASS

About a hundred years ago there was an English duke who used to return home at daybreak after a night's gambling at his club. There were only two persons stirring in that part of London at that hour—the duke and a cobbler commencing his day's work. They always greeted each other "Good night, friend," said the duke. "Good morning, sir," said the cobbler.

Debate Council Has Arranged Contests

The Debate Council of the College of William and Mary has arranged debates with Colby College, of Vermont, Washington Square College, of New York University, and the University of Richmond. The question for debate will be "Resolved: That the Closed Shop Policy is Justifiable."

William and Mary is making efforts to develop a debating team that will be competent to meet any college in the North or South. The college has awakened to the neglected activity of intercollegiate literary contests, and is striving to put literary interests among the major activities of the college. The Debate Council will hold preliminary contests within two weeks in order to select the debating teams for the season. A number of students have already expressed their desire to enter the preliminaries.

The women students of the college are also arranging out of the State debates with women's colleges. They hope to develop a women's debating team this year that will compete with other women's colleges. Last year two women students represented the college in an intercollegiate debate between William and Mary and Richmond University. They won from the Richmond institution.

The debate schedule to date is as follows:

April 4—Colby College, of Vermont, at Williamsburg.

April 20—Washington Square College, of New York University, at New York.

April 7—(Dual Contest) University of Richmond, at Williamsburg and Richmond.

S. I. N. A. MEETING SOON

S. I. N. A. Headquarters—Every effort is being made to make the next annual convention of the Southern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association, which will be held the latter part of April at a place yet to be decided upon, a most profitable one. As incentives to interest, the executive committee of the association has arranged for three intercollegiate contests, one now being announced. This contest is on between regional vice-presidents and their districts, and is a drive for membership enlargement.

An Editorial Contest will be announced within the next few days and also a contest, known as a Journalistic Contest, which will deal with technical makeup of the newspaper along journalistic lines.

MUSICAL GIVEN

The fourth of the series of informal Sunday afternoon musical was given last Sunday at the home of Professor and Mrs. A. G. Williams on Scotland Street. The occasion was marked by spirited comment on the selections, reflecting the interest and enjoyment on the listeners.

For the next concert on March 12, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Coleman will be hosts at their home, "The Tucker House," Court Green.

It's a wise child that resembles its rich relations. —Toronto Tel.

POWER IS EDITOR

Under the editorship of Prof. Ralph L. Power, of the University of Southern California, a new Handbook of Alpha Kappa Psi—national commerce fraternity—will soon be issued. Prof. Power was national editor for some time and wrote a fraternity manual a number of years ago.

Omega chapter was established in this institution last year and the volume will be of considerable interest to commerce students, as Prof. Power was on the William and Mary faculty at that time.

In addition to listing the thirty chapters of the organization there will be a list of national officers, representative members, the war roll, a chapter on commercial education, fraternal organization, a history of the organization and much additional material of value not only to Alpha Kappa Psi men but also to those interested in business education and fraternities—whether social or professional.

Lawyers Discuss Training Courses

Bar Conference Vote on Academic Requirement for Profession

Chief Justice Taft, of the United States, leaders of the American Bar from all sections of the country, and representatives of universities and colleges, at the meeting of the National conference of bar associations, discussed, at times somewhat heatedly, the recommendation of the American Bar Association that academic education be required in the future of all law school graduates seeking admission to the bar.

The conference of delegates from more than a hundred and fifty bar associations was called for the purpose of eliciting the support, it was explained, of the different States in an effort eventually to arrive at a definite and recognized standard of legal education. The discussion was continued when a vote late in the day taken to determine the attitude of the States represented showed that the majority of the delegates avoided an academic education before the study of law.

Elihu Root, of New York, speaking in behalf of the American Bar Association, denounced conditions which he said made possible the projection into the ranks of the legal profession of men incapable of performing the duties of a lawyer, and asked support of the recommendation of the association that at least two years' college course be required of all law school graduates in the future.

Chief Justice Taft, picturing conditions of what was described as laxity in many communities which, he declared, enabled incompetents to be admitted to the bar, was more urgent than Mr. Root in advocating educational reforms so far as the future of the legal profession was concerned. Mr. Taft said he not only was in favor of requiring two years' college study, but a full college course for law school graduates, before they were certified to practice law, explaining that "the country already has too many lawyers, and I cannot feel there is going to be a dearth of them, no matter how thorough the preparation insisted upon."

J. Nelson Frierson, dean of the law school of the University of South Carolina, lauded those who had succeeded in obtaining admission to the bar without college training and, illustrating his contention that the personnel of the American Bar Association was "unjust and uncalled for" pointed to Lincoln and other leaders who "never saw the inside of a college."

John Bell Keeble, of Nashville, Tenn., also opposed the college course proposal as "asinine" and pledged the opposition of his State to any movement looking to obligatory legislation along this line.

Cash prizes for the best original essays by foreign students in attendance at American colleges and universities are offered through the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association by Fred N. Dow, of Portland, Me. The subject matter is limited to alcohol problem and measures for its solution, but the widest possible latitude is given to the choice of subject and the method of development. Length is to be between two thousand and three thousand words. First prize is $100, second price $50.00, and third prize $25.00. Rules may be obtained by writing to the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, 14 W. Washington St., Chicago.

Students of today take more interest in the affairs of the general community and are more useful as citizens even though younger in average age than those of ten or twenty years ago, according to the annual report of Henry A. Yeomane, dean of Harvard College.

budget for maintenance. A bill was introduced in the legislature, and passed by the House of Delegates, providing for the appropriation of $100,000 for the dormitory. This bill, when read by the Senate, was cut to $80,000. It has been necessary to refer the bill to a joint committee of the two houses of the General Assembly, and this committee will probably report out a sum between $80,000 and $100,000 for the dormitory.

William and Mary's appropriation is a larger proportional increase than that of any other of the State-endowed institutions of learning. This is taken as evidence that the Assembly recognizes the great work being done at William and Mary in the education of the youth of the Commonwealth.

The appropriation for the dormitory is an especially timely one. With prospects of a largely increased enrollment next year, the dormitory was necessary to the continued growth of the college. Every available room on the campus is taken now, with about one hundred men living in town. Tyler Hall, originally built as a dormitory for men, is being used for women.

Plans for the dormitory call for a spacious gymnasium adjoined to the building, including a basketball court, running track, and swimming pool, with plenty of locker room, shower baths, and athletic equipment. The present gym at William and Mary is entirely inadequate. It is small and antiquated, with practically no equipment. There is no balcony. It is significant that this year's basketball team used the gymnasium in Jefferson Hall this year.

Just what plan the college will adopt in raising its half of the dormitory fund is as yet a matter of speculation, but surely so worthy a cause will not fail for lack of support.

Y. W. C. A. BEGINS SERVICE BUREAU

another. Often a girl spends hours with another helping her to "catch up" with her work—hours which she could be spending in other ways more profitable to herself, yet she does not feel that she can refuse her help, although she may be under no obligations to the other girl. If she were paid for her time, much of it would be saved, as both would take it more seriously; and the whole transaction would be fairer. Then there are children in town, in the High School and in lower grades who, from time to time, need coaching. There are many girls in college who are quite capable for such work, and who would volunteer willingly if they were paid for it.

The second and third departments, cooking and sewing, are to be managed by the Home Economics girls. These girls, experienced in preparing and serving luncheons, menus of all kinds, sick trays; experienced in all forms of cookery, can often help manage teas, receptions, etc., out in town. Or perhaps she may be needed to help with the baking on Saturday morning. Now, that help is so scarce, it seems that many housewives would be glad to have reliable and efficient girls for a few hours.

It is the same with sewing. Now, that spring is almost here, many mothers find themselves overwhelmed with the amount of sewing that has to be done. A Home Economics girl, spending a few hours a day helping her with the work, will make it dwindle like magic.

Then, there are girls who can do stenographic work—dictation, copying manuscripts, etc.; and would be glad of the chance to make a little extra money in spare time.

The fifth department cares for the children of the neighborhood. Perhaps a group of them want to go on a picnic or hike, and there is no one that you feel that you can really trust them with. Call up the chairman of the committee and she will send you a girl who would enjoy it. Or maybe, at night, the parents would like to visit friends, attend some special function; yet one of them must stay at home with the children. A Y. W. girl can take their places for a few hours, studying or reading; and the parents are free to do as they like.

The sixth department sells fancy work on commission. It is hard to get things of this kind, and they are in great demand for desirable and useful gifts.

The seventh department goes by the name of the "Beauty Parlor." Some girls can't or don't like to wash their own hair, and are continually imposing on other people. Certain girls will be recommended by the Bureau for such work, washing, curling, and dressing the hair; manicuring, and massaging.

It's fun and it's work and it's money doing all these things. The girls are asked to send in immediately their names and the kind of thing they can best do with a schedule of their spare time. Persons, who, on the other hand, would likely help in any of the departments are asked to notify Mabel Stratton, or one of the committee heads.

The rates for each department will be fixed by the advisory board, who are members of the faculty, and the cabinet; and all work is to be guaranteed by them.

Another department, a second hand book store, is to be opened next September.

Pictures at the Palace Next Week

SHOWS AT 4, 7, 8:30 P. M.

A couple of kids together!

This aptly describes Bebe Daniels and "Eddie" Sutherland, respectively star and leading man of "Nancy From Nowhere," the Realart picture which will be shown at the Palace Theatre Monday.

When the company was changing sets, or when for any other reason they were free, these two screen favorites would either be putting on their burlesque classic dance, or doing their fake acrobatic act, with many cries of "Allons! Hup!" and all the atmosphere of the "best Continental artists."

TUESDAY

"Godless Men," a Reginald Barker production, with a Goldwyn all-star cast, is a story where men meet their souls face to face and sneer themselves on to acts of horror; where they grapple life with ruthless, destructive hands. It will be shown at the Palace Theatre next Tuesday.

Russell Simpson portrays the leading character, "Black Pawl." As "Black Pawl" he defies God and for years sails the sea of terror to every man before the mast.

WEDNESDAY

Constance Talmadge, beloved by thousands of picture fans, will be seen in one of the best performances Wednesday night at the Palace Theatre, when she will star in "Two Weeks," one of the happiest farces of 1921. The story concerns the adventures of a young girl on a house party with three bachelors. It is filled with laugh provoking situations from the very first to the last reel. The acting is very good.

THURSDAY and FRIDAY

For rare beauty of background few pictures that have been screened this season can equal the picture version of Sir J. M. Barrie's, "The Little Minister," which Penryhn Stanlaws, the artist-director, produced for Paramount with Betty Compson in the role of "Lady Babbie," made famous on the stage by Maude Adams.

The picture, which will be shown at the Palace Theatre next Thursday and Friday, gives many views of the picturesque village of "Thrums," (Kirkriemuir, Scotland) Barrie's birthplace, in contrast with the famous Rintoul Castle, built after the style of the old Norman Castles, with high ceilings, stone mullioned and leaded glass windows, high arches and huge stone stairways. In the village the homes of the poor weavers are shown as well as the town hall and kirk.

SATURDAY

If it is a genuine, tingling thrill you hunger for some—rare, red blooded adventure cut in huge chunks from the flanks of life in the raw; spiced with romance and sprinkled throughout with suspense, or, in plain words, you are looking for the prize play of the season, the one that has all the zip and zest that you have looked for so vainly, your hunger will be satisfied on Saturday when "The Courage of Marge O'Doone" will be shown at the Palace Theatre.
